

Contributing to the community: Student to student study/learning initiatives

In our school this kind of initiatives have been shown in different forms: students helping their peers revise for chemistry, math, geography, etc exams. Students planning, organizing and running optional courses for their peers (hiking ABC; how to run a successful student company, etc). These initiatives have been brought to life because students themselves have interest in the subject/theme and have noticed their peers in need, plus they have the will to help when they have the knowledge and skills to do so.
